1. Introduction and Rationale

About the Institute

With the adoption of new strategy of delivering both Health and Family Welfare Services as an integrated package during the Fifth Five Year Plan period, Government of India recognized the need for an independent agency which could act as an apex technical institution, both in the field of Health and Family Welfare.

Consequently on March 9, 1977 the National Institute of Health and Family Welfare (NIHFW) came in to existence by the merger of two erstwhile autonomous organizations previously named as National Institute of Family Planning (NIFP) and National Institute of Health Administration and Education (NIHAE) which were established in the year 1962 and 1964 respectively. NIHFW since then has been functioning as a multi-disciplinary Institute under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Government of India.

NIHFW has been engaged in providing Education and Training to health managers since last two decades through its regular courses of MD (CHA), DHA and other in service training programs. The Post Graduate Diploma in Public Health Management started in 2008-09 in collaboration with MOHFW has gained popularity nationwide. However the in-service training arrangements have not been able to meet the demands expeditiously. Moreover, there is a need for continuous and consistent training in management especially for management of district health system.

In order to facilitate continuous up gradation of knowledge and skills of various health personnel across the country, the NIHFW conducts the following courses through distance learning mode:

- I. Post Graduate Diploma in Health and Family Welfare Management
- II. Post Graduate Diploma in Hospital Management
- III. Post Graduate Diploma in Health Promotion
- IV. Post Graduate Diploma in Health Communication
- V. Post Graduate Diploma in Applied Epidemiology
- VI. Post Graduate Diploma in Public Health Nutrition

2. About The Course

2.1. Post Graduate Diploma in Health and Family Welfare Management:

There had been a growing recognition of the need to provide management education to health and family welfare personnel at all levels. NIHFW and other State training institutions had been organizing short-term in-service courses to meet the requirement but could not cope up with the demand. Hence, NIHFW with the financial assistance of WHO, made an effort to develop a course through Distance Learning for the District Level Health Administrators and conducted a trial course in 1991-92 in close collaboration with the Indian Institutes of Management and other premier health and family welfare institutes in the country under the aegis of National Consortium of Institutions in Health and Family Welfare Management. From 1992-93 onwards NIHFW is offering this course on a regular basis.
